New Pianos at Auction.

The carload of new Story & Clark pianos and player pianos that we will sell tomorrow morning, commencing at 11 o'clock, are not ordinary instruments, but strictly high class, and rank among the best. The manufacturers furnish a written ten-year guarantee with each piano. The advantage in paying a cash auction price as compared with an inflated installment price is that you can own a piano outright where otherwise you would just commence to pay for it. Don't miss this opportunity. Call on them, or write to Wilson & Mayers, Manufacturers' Auctioneers, 1227 and 1229 G street.

Police Patrol Automobile Here.

The new automobile patrol wagon recently purchased by the District Commissioners has arrived in Washington and is at police headquarters to be inspected by the Commissioners and Maj. Sylvester. It is expected that the new vehicle will be placed in service at the first precinct station, on 12th street opposite the post office.

Kerngood Heads Musicians.

The Musicians' Union of New York, the largest body of organized musicians in the United States, has honored W. J. Kerngood, formerly of this city, by electing him to its presidency with a most decisive vote.

Mr. Kerngood was formerly president of Washington union of musicians and leader of the orchestra of Chase Theatre. He was rated a "good fellow," and was one of the most popular members of the Washington association.

There were four candidates for the presidency of the New York union. The vote was as follows: Ballou, 106; Hackert, 104; Hauser, 103; Kerngood, 377. Kerngood, 751; a total vote of 1,567 having been polled.

He will take office New Year day.

Evangelist at Gorsuch Church.

Evangelist William D. Laumaster, of Danville, Pa., spoke Tuesday night at Gorsuch M. E. church on "Salvation." He deplored the lack of interest on the part of men and women in their souls' salvation, and said it was a simple matter, that of believing in Christ and receiving life. Dr. Laumaster also conducted a Bible reading in the afternoon, a feature of his services, which will continue for two weeks at Gorsuch, is his tenor voice.

Eagle Tent Open Meeting.

At the last meeting of Eagle Tent No. 2, I. O. O. F., at 304 B street southeast, O. B. Hallam presided. After a short program, consisting of remarks by the high chief ruler, N. E. Vowles; a speech by P. H. C. R. Loveless, a piano solo by Miss Kimball, remarks by J. E. Eller, a piano solo by Mrs. Charles Williams, a song by Miss Miss Mary Bean, and music by Miss Ethel Foote, a debate was in order. The affirmative maintained the citizens of the District should vote on all subjects pertaining to the welfare, and especially the liquor issue. The negative maintained that the people already have a voice regarding the sale of liquors by refusing to sign petitions granting licenses, and that it is proper that Congress should decide the affairs of the District. A vote was taken by the audience to decide the most convincing argument, which proved a tie. Refreshments were served.

Electric Wagon for White House.

The White House delivery wagon and horse, used for many purposes, is to be used to an electric express wagon. The superintendent of public buildings and grounds, who controls the appropriations for the White House, has purchased an electric express wagon, which will shortly be brought into use. It has a capacity of 1,000 pounds and has three and one-half horsepower. The car has woven wire screens. It will carry mail to and from the White House, carry the baggage of the President and others of the White House and be used for much other work.

SEEK LODGING HOUSE THIEVES

Police After Two Young Men for Recent Robbery.

Two young men suspected of having committed thefts at lodging houses in this city recently are wanted by the police.

A theft committed at the house of R. B. Schwickard, 531 18th street, was reported. Two young men called at the house Monday and said they had been sent there by the Y. M. C. A. to get a room. One carried a gun, the other carrying a bag. They were seen to enter the house. Mrs. Schwickard's daughter, the only one within at the time, was in the basement.

The men left the house before other occupants returned. In the afternoon it was found that several rooms had been ransacked and robbed.

R. B. Schwickard, jr., and David Mackey were the losers. From their rooms the thieves had taken about $125 worth of wearing apparel, two umbrellas, articles of jewelry and a razor. A suit belonging to Mackey was recovered later in the day by Detectives Barbee and Vermillion.

Descriptions of the men have been telephoned to the several police stations with instructions to arrest them.

DRIVEN BY HARD WIND.

Record Time Made by Schooner Freddie L. Hamblin.

The master of the two-masted bay schooner Freddie L. Hamblin, which arrived here a day or two ago with a cargo of lumber aboard from a North Carolina point for dealers in this city, reports having met with excessively rough weather in Chesapeake bay. But, while the winds were heavy and made the seas rough, it was a favorable breeze, and blew the vessel up the bay and the Potomac in record time. She was able to make the trip with canvas somewhat torn, but otherwise intact. As soon as the Hamblin completes the unloading of her cargo here she will return to a North Carolina point under charter to load lumber back to this port. Her last trip was the third that the schooner has made to this city with lumber from North Carolina.

BISHOP HARDING'S KITTEN.

Disappearance Brings Sorrow to the Household.

A pretty Matinee kitten, with tiger markings, is doubtless playing in some front yard along a fashionable portion of Massachusetts avenue this afternoon. The play is not so remarkable nor is the wanderlust with which this kitten is affected extraordinary either, but the disappearance of the feline from the home of the Rt. Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, has caused much distress among the younger members of the household.

It stole quietly down the high stone steps of the bishop's house, Highland terrace, yesterday morning and then disappeared as if by magic.

PRIZES FOR BOY MARKSMEN.

Medals, Cup and Overcoat Donated for Field Day Shoot.

Brig. Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance, U. S. A., has donated a set of medals for the field day shoot at the Washington schools, to be held on the range of the National Guard, District of Columbia, near Congress Heights, November 6.

In his offer of the medals for the interclub match Gen. Crozier has expressed the hope that every public and private preparatory school in the District will send a team to the competition. In this match six boys form a team to represent the school's rifle club.

In addition to the medals which Gen. Crozier will give to each individual member of the winning team, the National Rifle Association will present to the school by which the winning team was a hampered copper cup.

William B. Hibbs has offered a prize for the High School Cadet Corps interclub rifle match. Hibbs, who has donated an overcoat for the merchandise match.

Papers for the organization of government schools for the field day may be secured at the office of the National Rifle Association at the Hibbs building.

SCHOONER ISABEL ASHORE.

Reported on the Nominie Creek Bar. The Wakefield Arrives.

The river schooner Isabel, owned at this city, is reported ashore on one of the shoal bars in the mouth of Nominie creek, and when the steamer Capital City passed her Tuesday evening she was standing west out of the shoal bar, and looked as if it might be necessary to remove part of her cargo in order to float her. This is the second or third time the Isabel has been ashore in Nominie in the past year.

The steamer Wakefield, which was caught ashore in the mouth of Nominie creek the last of Tuesday, remained hard and fast aground from about noon until 8 o'clock that night, when the incoming tide enabled her engine to work and she deep water, and she resumed her interrupted trip. The steamer arrived at the mouth of her river in Nominie creek in time to leave on time for this city, and she arrived here about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, practically on schedule.

AWARDED VERDICT FOR $5,425.

Victim of Elevator Accident Gets Claim for Injuries.

Wilson A. McCloskey, who was injured August 9, 1907, while painting the shaft of the elevator in the Hibbs building, then in the course of construction by the George A. Fuller Company, has been awarded a verdict for $5,425 against the company by a jury in Circuit Court No. 2, before Chief Justice Clabaugh.

McCloskey was seated on the top of the elevator, and had signaled the operator of the lift to stop at the second floor. He charged that after coming to the stop the operator suddenly started the car and the painter was cast in attempting to alight at the second landing. McCloskey brought suit for $10,000 damages against the Fuller company and the Otis Elevator Company, which had installed the elevator, and whose employee was operating it. At the trial the Otis Elevator Company was exonerated by order of the court on the showing that it had turned over the elevator as complete to the contractor and hired the operator to the Fuller company. The Fuller people sought to evade responsibility on the plea that they had sublet the painting contract to the Mackay company of New York, and had the elevator conductor to facilitate the work of the subcontractors.

It was shown, however, that the services of the operator was paid for by the Fuller company, and the court held the company responsible and the jury assessed the damages.

Attorneys S. V. Hayden and Hayden Johnson represented the injured man, and Attorneys E. S. Duvall and M. J. Colbert appeared for the Fuller corporation. The Otis Elevator Company was represented by Attorneys McKenney and Flannery.

SEPARATED FROM HIS CASH.

Simon Minor, Colored, Alleged He Was Held Up and Robbed.

An alleged "hold-up" was investigated by Judge Kimball yesterday afternoon. Samuel Minor, colored, an employee of a downtown restaurant, accused James Carroll and William Cole, both colored, of taking $31 from him by force in a saloon at 15th and H streets northeast.

Minor started for his home, in Keenlyworth, Monday evening, he said, but missed his car at 15th and H streets, so he went into a saloon to get refreshments. Two affable strangers met him in conversation with him, and Minor had several drinks of whiskey with them. The proprietor of the place knew Minor and whispered to him to get out and go home before he had too much to drink, and hinted that there might be trouble in store for any one who showed any money.

Then Minor rather noisily displayed a roll of bills, according to the evidence, and said he could pay for anything he wanted and could take care of himself. Shortly after that Minor and the two affable strangers became involved in an argument. A man named Williams struck Minor in the mouth and Minor started to leave the place in a hurry. The affable strangers blocked the door, and one of them went after Minor's roll, which was in his trousers pocket.

A bunch of small change fell on the floor and the bartender started to clean the crowd out. The affable strangers ran, and Minor told the police he was $31 out.

Detective W. E. Smith and Policeman J. G. Delamichie arrested Cole and Carroll, and Judge Kimball held Cole in $2,000 bond for the grand jury and discharged Carroll for lack of evidence.

Chamber of Commerce to Assist Southern Commercial Congress.

The Chamber of Commerce may assist the Southern Commercial Congress in financing the proposed Southern building at 15th and H streets by placing $75,000 worth of bonds in Washington. This matter was discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, at the presentation of the plans of the congress by Charles A. Douglass and S. W. Meek. At the same time the Southern Commercial Congress will endeavor to place $250,000 worth of bonds in the southern states. The matter was referred to the building committee of the Chamber of Commerce for consideration and report.

At the same meeting the executive committee made a report of the action of the project to erect an auditorium in Washington.

EXTENDING FURLOUGH SYSTEM

Laying the Employees Off at Government Printing Office.

There will be a more general extension of the furlough system at the government printing office whenever it becomes necessary to lay off employees owing to lack of work, according to a recent decision of Public Printer Donnelly, in response to a request made to him by Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101.

The new system has already been put into effect and fifty employees of the office have been on a three-day furlough. Hereafter the furloughs will be only for a few days, but will be given to a larger number of employees. At a meeting last Sunday a committee was appointed by Columbia Typographical Union to confer with the public printer, who acted at once upon the suggestions made to him.

Dredging Lighthouse Service Dock.

The big bucket dredge Jack, which was brought here a day or two ago, under contract to deepen the docks about the new pier of the lighthouse service at the foot of 9th street southwest, began work this morning and is loading lighters with material taken from the docks as fast as the tug Capt. Thayer can take them back. Hereafter the dredging will be only for a few days, but will be given to a larger number of employees. At a meeting last Sunday a committee was appointed by Columbia Typographical Union to confer with the public printer, who acted at once upon the suggestions made to him.
